Mission History

Our Mission

Accessity's mission is to open doors of financial opportunity to those historically with less access to capital and business support: entrepreneurs of color, women, immigrant, and low-to-moderate income entrepreneurs, so they can build a prosperous business and livelihood for themselves and their families, while also strengthening our communities.

Our History

As a Community Development Financial Institution, Accessity has been dedicated to providing economic opportunity for entrepreneurs who lack access to traditional sources of credit since 1994. We've served thousands with education and resources and provided $75 million in loans to over 5,500 clients in Southern California

In seeing the disproportionate economic impact of the pandemic on low-to-moderate income entrepreneurs and entrepreneurs of color, we knew we were being called to make a greater impact.

COVID-19 Response

When the pandemic started heavily impacting Southern California small businesses in mid-March 2020, Accessity acted as an economic first responder to support small businesses in this time of need. During this critical time Accessity has developed a COVID-19 resources for your business webpage, educated 3,700 entrepreneurs and disbursed more than $8.5 million in low-interest COVID-19 relief funds to nearly 300 businesses. Accessity has special low-interest loan programs designed for entrepreneurs needing support to recover from COVID-19.

Our Brand

The name Accessity, intentionally combines the word "Access" and "ity" from the word community. It demonstrates the commitment to making a greater impact with the clients we serve, especially for entrepreneurs of color, women and immigrant entrepreneurs who often lack equitable access to loan capital and a community of support and resources. The logo represents the entrepreneurial spirit and a diverse community coming together to serve as catalysts for launching and growing businesses, as displayed in colors and design reflective of our diverse Southern California community.

At Accessity, we believe in building social equity through our lending philosophy and wrap-around approach of serving our clients with additional support and resources. We believe in meeting our clients where they are, and in putting value on the adversities they have overcome to become business owners.

Accomplishments

Accessity has lent over $75 million since inception in December of 1994. We have approved more than 5,500 loans while maintaining good portfolio quality.

Each year the Accessity staff provides technical assistance and business information to more than 1,500 business owners who approach the program for services. Accessity maintains a close relationship with our clients and we are proud to say we have achieved these accomplishments with a staff of 30 and support from interns and volunteers.

Accessity received the highest four-star rating from Charity Navigator for the eighth consecutive year for sound fiscal management. The rating recognizes Accessity as an exceptional nonprofit which allocates over 90 percent of its budget towards its lending program.

The Need for

Accessity targets self-employed individuals and microbusiness owners, many of which are run by women, other minorities and people with low-to-moderate income levels. Over 70 percent of our total client base identifies themselves as part of an ethnic minority group, and approximately 40 percent of Accessity clients are women all of whom are in need of micro-credit.

The Southern California regional economy is growing at a faster rate than those of the country as a whole, yet most of the jobs with the most growth in California (fast food, retail services, grocery, health care, janitorial and security industries) pay less than a livable wage. Struggling to adjust to the competitive global economy, many employers are shifting to part-time workers, non-standard schedules, contract labor, suburban worksites (which there is minimal or no public transportation) and fewer employee benefits. Faced with this wage situation and cost of living (which is 41% higher than the national average) many low-to-moderate income persons are turning to self-employment as an alternative.

Cumulatively, microenterprises employ thousands of people, feed and educate their families and sustain the vital informal economic infrastructure of Southern California's older urban neighborhoods. These enterprises are owned and operated by hardworking men and women whose ethnic and cultural backgrounds reflect the community's rich diversity. Accessity's clients may be seamstresses, daycare providers, carpenters or hairdressers, all working hard to earn an income that will help them build a better future.

Even for these determined microentrepreneurs, opportunity is limited by the difficulty of accessing business credit and technical assistance. Obtaining a loan from a bank is almost impossible for a variety of reasons such as small loan size, poor or no credit history, language barriers and limited financial records. Without access to working capital, micro-entrepreneurs have little chance of strengthening or expanding their small businesses.

In order to maintain and grow their microbusinesses, Accessity borrowers often need very small loans to acquire basic working capital, to make improvements to their workspaces, to purchase equipment, and/or to buy inventory in bulk quantities. Once these microentrepreneurs have better established their business, many are able to receive larger loans from traditional loan sources such as banks and credit unions.

We also encourage our microentrepreneurs to improve their business acumen. As their businesses grow, and eventually require larger amounts of capital from mainstream financial institutions, they will need to develop the formalized financial records and management skills required by these lenders. To assist our clients in this area, Accessity also provides technical assistance. Utilizing staff members and partnerships with community organizations, Accessity hosts regular workshops and training, as well as offers in-house business counseling.

Methodology

Accessity has developed a lending methodology that enables underserved entrepreneurs to access credit, while maintaining a high quality loan portfolio. The program's "character-based" lending methodology takes into account the borrower's integrity, reliability, and entrepreneurial spirit when evaluating loan applications. The program prides itself on being accessible and on providing capital quickly. Accessity's loan committee meets on a weekly basis to review and process completed loan applications.

Stepped Loan Amounts

Accessity provides business loans from $300 to $100,000. These microloans enable many low-to-moderate income borrowers to receive the credit they need to build their business and family incomes, while maintaining a manageable risk level and reasonable payment schedule.

Collateral Requirements

Accessity's flexible collateral requirements make credit accessible even to clients with few business and personal assets. Accessity accepts non-traditional forms of collateral such as automobiles, equipment, and other business inventory.

Co-Signer Requirements

All loans are evaluated on a case-by-case basis with co-signers required depending on the level of risk.

Pricing

Accessity's pricing structure, which includes incentives for timely repayment, takes into account market interest rates, our costs of lending, and our goal of reaching program self-sufficiency. Interest rates are fixed and range from 6.99% to 18.99% depending upon the client's risk level. Special pricing is also offered to veterans and active service members. Accessity also offers low-interest various COVID-19 relief and recovery programs.

Terms

Loans terms vary from 3-to-72 months with equal monthly payments. As loan amounts increase, the loan term increases, enabling borrowers to maintain reasonable monthly payments as they move to larger loan amounts. Borrowers are also permitted to prepay their loan balance without penalty at any time after the first three months of payment.

Business Training

Accessity's clients are often quite accomplished in their specific industry, but may lack the necessary expertise for business management and growth. They may be excellent childcare providers or skilled contractors, for example, but do not have training in basic financial reporting. Accessity has found that the most effective way to help borrowers develop their business skills is to offer individualized training on an as-needed basis by our staff, volunteers or partner organizations. All of our incoming clients receive basic technical assistance from loan officers during the intake process, in addition to our partner SBDC counselor. If clients require additional assistance during the intake process, we refer them to partner organizations who specifically offer assistance in marketing, business planning, government contracting, manufacturing, accounting and e-business. Accessity hosts and facilitates business workshops regularly for clients on educational topics and offers opportunities for publicity and networking.

Meet Our Clients

The Chocolate Bar, Ontario CA

Luis owns The Chocolate Bar, a dessert bar and sweet shop established in Ontario in 2019. Inspired by his experience at a food distribution company and his wife's passion for chocolate, Luis ventured into the industry. He started his first business, Heavenly Nuts and Sweets, which he expanded to open The Chocolate Bar, providing a storefront and an expanded menu of crepes, Mexican coffees, ice cream, and other delectable desserts.

Luis' business is a genuine family affair. Throughout the pandemic, his son and daughter spent ample time in the shop, gaining firsthand experience and knowledge about the operations. Additionally, his wife plays a pivotal role in the business, crafting many delicious dishes on the shop's menu. He came to Accessity in 2021 for a COVID-19 loan to bulk purchase his supplies, expand his e-commerce store, and hire back employees.

He then returned to Accessity in 2022 to get more funding to open his second location, which opened in Highland in mid-2023.

"My passion is to create good jobs for other families, support my community, and of course, my city," stated Luis. "I created eight jobs through my business and hope to hire a few more people through my new location."

Chula Vista Brewery, Chula Vista CA

The craft beer scene was booming in San Diego but didn't have a presence in San Diego's South Bay area where Timothy Parker lives. Timothy decided to use his passion for brewing and community to open Chula Vista Brewery in Chula Vista, Calif. in 2017 as a community gathering place and to give representation to Southern San Diego in the local craft beer industry but needed additional capital to do so. Accessity was able to help Timothy with a $10,000 BTAD in July 2015 to cover the cost of furnishings as he was working on getting his business started. The community response was immediate – people were happy to have a local tasting room to come to.

Since receiving his loan, Timothy has continued to grow Chula Vista Brewery and the business has made a name for itself in the San Diego beer community and took home a bronze medal in the San Diego International Beer Competition in 2019. His revenue has increased every year, and he plans to expand to a second location soon. He has used his success and platform to become even more involved in the community. Chula Vista Brewery and their employees hold events and volunteer with the local police and fire departments, as well as doing events with the mayor. Timothy attributes much of his recent success to the Samuel Adams Brewing the American Dream Brewing & Business Experienceship he participated in in 2018, which helped him and his team garner
